Dear Mr. Mr. Abdelghani FARAH,

You are respectfully invited to participate in the above research study as an independent classroom observer. Your extensive experience in English language teaching and supervision makes your perspective highly valuable to this study.

Purpose of the Study This study evaluates the effectiveness of the Integrated Correction Model (ICM) in improving secondary-school students' essay-writing performance. The study employs a quasi-experimental design with an experimental group receiving the ICM and a control group receiving traditional correction.

Your Role as Observer

If you agree to participate, you will be asked to:

- Conduct structured classroom observations during the six-week intervention period.
- Use the provided structured observation protocol to document: a)Fidelity of implementation; b) Student engagement and interaction;c) Classroom dynamics; d) Instructional practices; and e) Challenges and facilitating factors.
- Write brief field notes after each observation.
- Participate in a short debriefing discussion with the teacher after each observation, if convenient.

Confidentiality and Use of Data

Your observation notes will be anonymized and analyzed thematically alongside quantitative findings. Your name will appear in the study only in acknowledgement of your role as an inspector, unless you prefer otherwise. You may review any excerpts from your notes before they are included in the final report.

Voluntary Participation

Your participation is entirely voluntary. You may decline or withdraw at any time without providing a reason and without any professional consequence.

Consent Statement

By signing below, you confirm that you have read and understood this letter and agree to participate as an observer in this study.
